Your Christian identity as a worker

I AM WHAT I DO

Whatever you do for a living, there is a danger that you will let what you do for work define who you are. 'I am what I do' is a 6 week course exploring how this prevents us from building a Christian view of identity. Join Andrew Laird for a liberating journey into your own heart to be transformed by the freedom of knowing your identity in Jesus.

KEY OUTCOMES: Develop Christian identity, reflect on God's grace and your work, apply Grace to your working life

Your witness in everyday relationships

SHARING JESUS AT WORK

This course guides you through the "Coffee, Dinner, Gospel" method of sharing your faith at work with Sam Chan. If you aren't sure where to start in making friends, having deeper conversations or sharing the life-giving Gospel at work, this loving, insightful and empowering course will help you through it all.

KEY OUTCOMES: Gain confidence in Sharing Jesus, build relational evangelism skills, learn to engage with different worldviews

Your cross-cultural engagement

NEVER MORE HOSTILE, NEVER MORE OPEN

Are you anxious about the hostility towards the Christian faith in the public square? Are you unsure how to communicate Jesus to those who have rejected the Christian worldview? This 4 session course with Stephen McAlpine gives you the skills to listen, speak and challenge a hostile culture, by finding the openness beneath the hostility.

KEY OUTCOMES: Understand cultural hostility, apply the Bible to cultural movements, communicate with Grace and truth, see opportunities to share Jesus

How to listen and respond

HAVING CALM CONVERSATIONS

Sharing Jesus these days isn't easy. It can even make us anxious. How can we lay the conversation groundwork so that we can talk about faith-related things? How do we make good Gospel connections in conversation? How can we disagree well when someone holds a different position to us? Having Calm Conversations is a practical, four session guide for those next steps in conversation. When we speak calmly, wisely and winsomely, we speak well to others about Jesus.

KEY OUTCOMES: Cultivate a calm presence, make good gospel connections, bring your best to evangelistic opportunities, have better conversations

How to get to the Bible

THE WORD 121

When your friends show an interest in the Bible and understanding Christianity, have you considered asking them to read the Bible with you? This course gives you an introduction to the Word 121 tool for opening the Bible with your colleague or friend.

KEY OUTCOMES: Get confident in asking your friends to read the Bible with you, become competent in letting the text speak to your friends, know John's Gospel.
